The Ladies like the way "Keen" serves them. "Keen" fits more well-dressed Ladies in a day than other tailors fit in a week. Some of his patrons think he doesn't charge enough for his work—it is only a little more than some dressmakers ask, but Keen makes clothes for so very many that he reckons his profit on the principle that "many small beans will fill the bag just as quick as a few large ones." Of course other tailors will intimate that they also have these NEW LONDON SCOTCH TROUSERINGS. They haven't. That is, none like these. It requires a very high order of educated taste to appreciate these. They would look all the world like $1.98 "Pants" on a poorman, but on a well-dressed man they look just what they are—the "swellest" trousers that ever left a tailor's shop. A gentleman picked out a pair to go with a $50 black coat and vest (as just what he had been looking for), and almost lost his breath when we told him the price was but $8. Mr. Theodore L. De Land, treasury examiner, said today: "I noticed the item in The Star of last Saturday in which Gen. Rosecrans, the register of the treasury, states that the competitive examinations for promotion in his bureau had given very unsatisfactory results. The matter of Commodore Skerritt's successor is unsettled. Two propositions are pending. One is to combine the billets of command int of the yard and inspector of ordnance into one command under Capt. W. T. Sampson, the present inspector of ordnance. The other is to make Capt. Sampson chief of the bureau of ordnance when Commodore Folger resigns from that office, in which case the consolidation of the two billets would probably not be made.
